

Free Public Evening Lecture Understanding Ocean Acidification in Kachemak Bay

Wednesday May 29th, 2019

7:00pm—8:00PM

Alaska Islands and Ocean Visitor Center

Hear the latest on ocean acidification monitoring and implications from UAF Researcher Amanda Kelly.

Amanda will share new projects including the first measures of high-frequency ocean chemistry from a series of sensors deployed in Kachemak Bay.

There will be time to discuss the need for ocean acidification studies locally and in the state of Alaska, bring your questions to this free event!

For more information contact:
Kachemak Bay NERR 907-235-4799

